

THE LATIN AMERICAN CENTRE
UNIVERSITY OF OXFORD
ST ANTONY'S COLLEGE, OXFORD OX2 6JF, UK

CONFERENCE PROGRAMME

Day one (Friday, 27th October)

Conference on Post-Authoritarian Disappearances

What is the relationship of transitional justice to disappearances that occur long after the democratic transition? To what degree are contemporary disappearances related to the authoritarian period or patterns of impunity that predate that period? Does transitional justice offer appropriate and effective mechanisms to advance the rights of victims of disappearances to truth, justice, reparations, and guarantees of non-repetition?

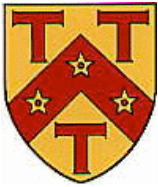

All papers will be submitted in advance (15 September). Each paper presenter will have 15 minutes to present their main points to allow for a half hour discussion.

- 9.00-10.00 Conceptual Framework: Karina Ansolabehere and Leigh Payne
Chair: Gabriel Pereira
- 10.00-11.00 International Law Framework: Barbara Frey and Ariel Dulitzky
Chair: Laura Bernal
- 11.00-11.30 Coffee break
- 11.30-12.30 Domestic Legal Frameworks: Sandra Serrano and Marlon Weichert
Chair: Javier Amadeo
- 12.30-14.00 Lunch at St Antony's College
- 14.00-15.00 Mexico: Alvaro Martos, Hermana Consuelo Morales, Michael Chamberlain
Chair: Karina Ansolabehere
- 15.00-16.00 Coffee break
- 16.00-17.00 Brazil: Javier Amadeo and Debora Silva
Chair: Claudia Plens
- 17.00-18.00 Argentina: Gastón Chillier
Chair: Gabriel Pereira
- 18.00-19.00 Arts and Human Rights Advocacy
Marcelo Brodsky

HIGH TABLE DINNER at St Antony's College

TEL +44 (0)1865 274486
E-MAIL: ENQUIRIES@LAC.OX.AC.UK
HTTP://WWW.LAC.OX.AC.UK
Twitter: <https://twitter.com/LACOxford>

THE LATIN AMERICAN CENTRE
UNIVERSITY OF OXFORD
ST ANTONY'S COLLEGE, OXFORD OX2 6JF, UK

Day two (Saturday, 28th October)

Conference on Corporate Accountability and Transitional Justice

Transitional justice has been used primarily to consider violations of human rights by authoritarian state perpetrators or armed actors. Since the Holocaust, businesses have been implicated in financing and perpetuating repression and violent conflict. Given that corporate complicity often pre-dates and continues after the authoritarian period, and is carried out by non-state or rebel actors, is transitional justice the appropriate instrument to deal with these kinds of violations? Do the mechanisms that have promoted accountability for state actors have the same leverage over non-state economic actors?

- 9.00-10.00 Conceptual Framework: Leigh Payne and Gabriel Pereira
Rodrigo Uprimny, discussant
- 10.00-11.00 Colombia Case Study: Laura Bernal-Bermúdez and Camilo Sánchez
José Aylwin, discussant
- 11.00-11.30 Coffee break
- 11.30-12.30 Brazil case study: Marlon Weichert
Tricia Olsen, discussant
- 12.30-12.45 Arts and Human Rights Advocacy (Brasil)
Marcelo Brodsky
- 12.45--1.30 Lunch at St Antony's College (catered by Elham's)
- 13.30-14:30 South African Case Study: Hennie Van Vuuren
Leigh Payne, discussant
- 14.30-15.30 Argentina Case Study: Silvia Nassif
Camilo Sánchez, discussant
- 15.30-16.30 Chile case study: José Aylwin
Hennie Van Vuuren, discussant
- 16.30-17.00 Coffee break
- 17.00-18.00 Legacies of Complicity and a treaty on business' human rights obligations:
Carlos López and Tricia Olsen
Ariel Dulitzky, discussant

EVENING AT A PUB [THE ANCHOR]